NOTE: The notices will be mailed six months prior to their aircraft's registration expiration date. Filing an aircraft's renewal application before the file-by date allows time to process an error free application, fee, and the delivery of a new certificate before the old certificate expires. Filing the application earlier, about five months before expiration, allows time to request and process the correction of application errors, and to replace certificates that are misdirected during delivery.

NOTE: The first two notices sent will have a security code that enables on-line application, provided the aircraft's current ownership and registration addresses match what is shown in FAA records. The ownership still meets citizenship requirements, and the $5 fee can be paid by credit card.
